

Poverty Vulnerability Mapping

In Niger, Africa, Stone used a Landsat satellite image, village demographic data, and GIS technology to determine the poverty vulnerability of a region surrounding a major migratory bird rest stop: a eutrophied lake (a bright green oval in the image above) of interest to the Global Environment Facility.